Style Guide name: MapStyleGuide_GENERIC(no-pamphlet)_online-only_1sht_v1-1_01-15.pdf
Note that this PDF file is an informational Style Guide only and does not contain any Paragraph or Character styles – to apply actual styles to a layout, please use the accompanying Illustrator Map Template file called MapTemplate_GENERIC(no-pamphlet)_online-only_1sht_v1-1_01-15.ai

In the accompanying Map Template file, type specifications for each text element have been built as Paragraph Styles (for example, Map Series Headnote is specified as Univers 67 Bold Condensed, 14 pt, 17 pt leading). In addition, a few special type formats have been built as Character Styles (for example, map-unit names and ages in the explanation are specified as Times New Roman Bold, 10 pt, 12 pt leading). The styles are accessible from the Paragraph Styles and Character Styles palette windows.

Note that the template contains examples of only the most basic, fundamental elements that will appear on a typical map layout. Also, the small size of the map layout and of the map itself is for example purposes only – it is not intended to restrict the actual size of a map or map layout. In reality, many factors (for example, the size of the map, the number of map units and symbols, and the presence of cross sections, tables, or figures) will affect the actual size of a map layout and the final positioning of map elements.

Before finalizing layout, delete any style names, notes, arrows, or guides, as well as any outlines of text boxes, image area, and map layout (artboard) area.

Important note about applying type styles in the accompanying Map Template file to a layout:
Sometimes type that has been formatted using styles will either change to Myriad font or revert back to its "pre-Style" formatting after certain functions such as copying and pasting are performed. If a "+" appears after the style name in the Paragraph Styles palette when type in a text element is selected, then one of three things has likely happened: the style has not been fully applied to that type; the font has changed to Myriad; or the type has reverted to its "pre-Style" formatting. Clicking once more on the style name in the palette will apply the style completely and cause the "+" after the style name to disappear.

Please be advised that the contents of this Style Guide and the accompanying Map Template are for example purposes only and should not be used as guidelines for the representation of actual scientific relations or other real-world situations.

please note that type in the explanation, text, and references is shown as left justified ("ragged right") on this Style Guide, and the styles in the accompanying Map Template have been built that way as well; however, such type also may be fully justified ("left and right justified") if desired, depending on a map's layout or design
